The cost of living increase effective April 1, 2018 is 1.16%, representing 70% of the change in the average 2017 Consumer Price Index for Saskatchewan. The Public Employees Benefits Agency (PEBA) will include the increase in your April 2018 pension payment.

The full rate of increase will be applied for those in receipt of a pension before April 1, 2017. The increase will be pro-rated for those who retired after April 1, 2017.

The investment objective of the Plan is to meet current and future pension payment obligations. The assets of the Plan are invested in a diversified portfolio that should generate adequate and consistent returns to meet both current and future financial obligations. The funds are placed with a number of investment managers who then invest in a variety of asset classes. This diversification helps secure the Plan's ability to provide a steady stream of retirement income for approximately 1,700 active, deferred and retired members.

The Plan's estimated funded status at December 31, 2017 is 101% compared to 98% in 2016. The funding valuation is used to determine whether SaskPower needs to make any contributions into the Plan whereas the accounting valuation is included in the Plan's financial statements in accordance with accounting standards.

While the Plan's investment objective is to meet obligations, the risk of not meeting this objective rests with SaskPower rather than members. Regardless of the return on Plan assets, legislation specifies that if assets are not sufficient to provide pension benefits, the payments will be made from SaskPower revenues.

Pension Conversion – New Spouse after Retirement

If you have a new spouse after retirement, you can apply to have the survivor benefits paid to your new spouse following your death; subject to certain criteria. Such as, you (the superannuate) cannot have a medical condition that is likely to considerably shorten your lifespan expectancy. SaskPower's Physician will assess your medical evidence form. Please note that if you proceed with this option, your current pension would generally be reduced; however, your new spouse would only be eligible for a survivor benefit following your death if you proceed with the conversion. Your decision is irrevocable.

This option is not available to individuals receiving a pension as the widow or widower of a plan member.

Estimates of the converted pension amounts can be requested by contacting PEBA Pensioner Services at 306-787-3988. A fee applies to obtain the results.

Retiring soon?

Take a day to plan for your life in retirement. PEBA provides free RetireWithEase workshops throughout the province to help employees (and their spouses) make a retirement plan. The workshops are facilitated by PEBA Certified Financial Planners™ who present retirement information in everyday language. Workshops are interactive allowing employees to ask questions while they learn about tools and information available to them. Prior to registering for one of these workshops, employees must arrange with their supervisor for the time off and will have to use either a vacation day, BDO, etc. to attend. Costs of accommodation, transportation or meals are at the employee's expense. To register, use the following path:

- go to www.peba.gov.sk.ca
- on the Home page, click on the PEBA hosted retirement planning workshops link
- click the Register button and choose a workshop
- click Register for this Event and sign in as a PEBA Defined Benefit Plan member

PEBA requests that you obtain a pension estimate 6 months prior to your planned retirement date. This will provide you with time to review the estimate to confirm that all data is correct, review your finances, seek the assistance of a financial advisor, and submit your completed pension application form with required documentation. PEBA completes the pension estimates in approximately three weeks. In addition, PEBA provides a pension application form, the Revenue Canada TD1 personal tax credit returns, and a calculation of your highest average salary.

SaskPower and SaskEnergy employees meet with Human Resources to complete the pension application and all other documentation required at retirement after the notice has been submitted. Human Resources will also notarize the required certificates. You may wish to discuss completing the personal tax credit returns with your financial advisor and/or tax advisor. A pension application is required to start your pension. PEBA has advised that completed applications for pension should be submitted approximately one month prior to retirement. This would avoid a delay in payment of your pension should additional documentation or information be required.
